

No Animals Lost In Park Blaze

One fire which blazed through Elk Island national park last night, another which broke out after having been believed under control, and three other bush conflagrations in the north country were being battled by full crews of firefighters in this district Thursday.

THE ELK ISLAND PARK fire caused severe damage to timber in the area before being brought under control early Thursday morning. Alder Flats is the scene of the second major conflagration which was whipped into renewed violence in the high winds of the past few days.

A BLAZE WEST of Breton is raging in what bushmen term "slash ground," areas which already have been cut over at Drayton Valley and Fort Assiniboine, vast piles of smoke are making visibility difficult as crews struggle to bring an end to the destructive flames.

T. F. Blegen, director of forestry for the provincial government, said Thursday that the Fort Assiniboine blaze is known to be still on the ground and in underbrush, not yet having reached the tops of the timber.

Fort Assiniboine is an important Alberta lumbering centre. THE BLAZE AT ELK ISLAND Park, 30 miles east of Edmonton, caused severe timber damage but fire fighters, recruited from Lamont and surrounding districts brought it under control. Smoke and blazing embers Thursday were still receiving the attention of the

Thirty Housing Units Incomplete

Thirty of the 238 accommodation units being erected from Dawson Creek, B.C., salvage materials still are incomplete, but they will be finished within a very short time, Maxwell C. Dewar, city architect, stated Thursday.

Fifteen huts have been assigned to the city and the few for version into temporary emergency accommodation has started. These are located at the United States Airbase, and it is expected that eight or nine families can be accommodated in them.

THE LEASE on the buildings at the exhibition grounds given to the city by the Edmonton Exhibition Association has expired and the few families still there could not pay their rent for April as the city has no lease, and was without authority to collect the rentals tendered by the tenants. The lease was given for a period of five months and expired at the end of April.

Building Gains Over Last Year

Seventy-two commercial buildings, with a permit value of $544,160, have been erected in Edmonton, or are in the course of construction, since Jan. 1, 1946, according to Maxwell C. Dewar, city architect.

THIS COMPARED with 18 commercial buildings erected in the same period of 1945 when the value of the permits was $83,060.

A total of 625 permits, with a value of $2,441,000, for frame and wood houses were taken out in the four-month period ended April 30 compared with 1945 when the value of the permits was $83,060.

THE TOTAL of permits issued during the four months of 1946 was $4,479,993 compared with $1,192,837 for the same period last year.

On Wednesday, May 1, permits were issued to the Edmonton Public School Board for the erection of an addition to the Rutherford school costing $60,500, and to the Separate School Board for the erection of a new $16,350 school building at 22nd street, J. C. Haddow is the contractor on both projects.

D. MACELUCK took out a permit for $5,000 covering a frame and stucco store addition to an existing structure at 7204 11th avenue, and the N. R. Radio Service one for $4,000 covering the erection of a frame and stucco store at 1141 3rd avenue.

THE SOUTH SIDE SASH AND DOOR Co. took out a permit for $2,500 covering a frame and stucco addition to the company's plant at 7833 104th street.

Value of the permits issued Wednesday was $201,300, of which $74,500 represented permits taken out for the erection of 17 dwellings.

Inflation Trend Worries Farmers

CALGARY, May 2—(CP)—Leaders of the farm organizations in Alberta are seriously concerned over the ever rising price of commodities essential for production and the growing tendency toward inflation. It was reported following a meeting here between Low Hutchinson, president of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture; G. A. Stimpfle, president of the United Farmers of Alberta; and Albert Stimpfle, president of the Alberta Farmers' Union.

"THIS IS NOT A TIME," when it was stated after the meeting, "when we as a people can afford to place barriers or discouragements in the way of those who are producing food products not only for the people of Canada but the starving people of Europe as well. Yet this is exactly what is happening."

THE COST of essential farm implements has increased by 12½ per cent, the price of gasoline by 10 per cent and other essential commodities are increasing accordingly. These factors coupled with the difficulty of securing satisfactory farm labor at any price is very disheartening to the farmer. The ultimate result will be decreased production.

"THUS THE ALBERTA farm leaders have decided to contact the Federations of Agriculture in other provinces with a view of giving support to the Ontario Federation of Agriculture in asking for an investigation into the relative position of farm prices."

"IF THIS DOES not get results, Alberta is prepared to send a delegation to Ottawa to press for consideration of a loaded cattle truck which was being towed by the second truck driven by his son. Both vehicles were on the crossing when the freight train struck them."

THE HEAVY cattle truck was thrown into the ditch and a pig killed, while the truck driven by Wayne was thrown into the ditch on the opposite side of the track.

Toscanini Plans To Stay in Italy

MILAN, May 2—(Reuters)—Arturo Toscanini, who returned to his native Italy last week after 10 years in exile, has decided to refuse concert offers from many countries so that he can stay in Italy indefinitely to devote himself to the revival of the country's musical pre-eminence, his son said yesterday.

Port St. John, B.C., May 2—Five hundred new settlers for the Peace River district to be recruited from displaced persons in Czechoslovakia is the objective of William Wanka, Tupper Creek, B.C., himself a refugee from Sudetenland.

DR. WANKA is now discussing with Canadian Pacific Railway officials and the Canadian government ways and means of bringing the 500 to these parts. So far negotiations have been successful to the point that if brought here the 500 will be given homes with families from the Sudeten area now successfully settled in Tupper Creek B.C. on the Northern Alberta Railway.

Careful selection of families included in the plan has been made by Mr. Wanka. Each head of a family will be under 40 years of age and will be a trained technician in either glass manufacture, radio, textile manufacture or dairying.

Since coming here some years ago, Sudeten settlement at Tupper Creek has made good progress. Families have made extensive clearings and have built comfortable homes and barns. They are now going into dairying and supplying 250 gallons of fluid milk to a dairy plant at Dawson Creek. Many of the men served throughout the war in Canadian armed services. Others did valuable work on the Alaska highway.

In Attempt to Break Present Stalemate

Dominion-Provincial Conference May Return to Private Sessions

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
OTTAWA, May 2—(CP)—Fate of the Dominion-Provincial Conference may be decided behind closed doors as a result of a motion placed before it today by Premier John Hart of British Columbia.

MR. HART MOVED that the conference return to in camera discussions and attempt to break the stalemate which has been brought about by the dominion and the provinces adding pat on positions taken during the current plenary sessions.

NO IMMEDIATE action was taken on Mr. Hart's motion, seconded by Premier Walter Jones of Prince Edward Island.

MR. HART explained that British Columbia was prepared to find a solution to its objections to the dominion proposals of the current plenary sessions.

Conference

on authorities felt they would be better off without an agreement.

HE ASKED Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia to state definitely the amount they wanted as compensation for giving up income and corporation taxes for three years.

Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec, Premier George Drew of Ontario outlined the basis on which compensation should be paid, but did not definitely state what the provinces they wanted. Premier Hart suggested the return to committee meetings as experts could work out the details.

Seconding Mr. Hart's motion, Mr. Jones said what was needed was some quiet conversation among the representatives—conversations where the public and press would be present.

Premier Stuart Garson of Manitoba said he believed the provinces should remain in Ottawa until a solution was found. He knew of no more income tax business which the provinces could be engaged.

PREMIER GARSON urged Quebec and Ontario to make clear how much they wanted for getting out of income and corporation taxes.

He suggested that if after six months neither Mr. Duplessis nor Mr. Drew had reached an idea as to the amount of return they wanted, all this discussion about the minor fields of taxation have no purpose.

Mr. Drew said they could have reached agreement long ago if the federal government had not insisted on 1942 tax agreements continued instead of bringing in a lot of other matters for discussion.

Mr. DUPLESSIS said he could not see how agreement could be reached on the basis of federal proposals as they would be accepted by the provinces which would lead to legislative union, which Quebec did not want.

Mr. St. Laurent said that if agreement was not reached it would not be due to the "uncompromising attitude" of any of the provinces. Agreement was reached it would be because the governments could not agree on how the provinces of the country could be served.

St. Laurent

OTTAWA, May 2.—(CP)—Justice Minister St. Laurent suggested today that the Dominion-Provincial conference get down to the task of what would be paid to the provinces in return for their vacating the income and corporation tax fields.

Addressing the conference as it resumed its public discussions, Mr. St. Laurent said the matter was not one of minor details such as gasoline, amusements and others would be worked out later with the governments, deciding among themselves what a proper return would be.

HE SAID IT WAS NOT yet clear how much Ontario, British Columbia and Quebec wanted as compensation for getting out of income and corporation taxes for three years.

It was clear that agreement could not be reached without a great transfer of funds from the federal government to the provinces that has not been made, he said. The Dominion authorities felt they would be better off without an agreement.

No agreement was reached it would not be because of the uncompromising attitude of anyone, Mr. St. Laurent said. He wished to clear up some misconceptions which appeared to exist with respect to the purposes of the conference.

Before the adjournment yesterday, Premier Ernest Manning had expressed concern that the conference had not broken down. If it did break down it would not be due to the uncompromising attitude of anyone on any minor matters.

Mr. St. Laurent said the conference had not broken down. He hoped it would not break down. If it did break down it would not be due to the uncompromising attitude of anyone on any minor matters.

IF NO AGREEMENT was reached it would not be because of the uncompromising attitude of anyone on any minor matters. He hoped it would not break down. If it did break down it would not be due to the uncompromising attitude of anyone on any minor matters.

He believed everyone agreed that the taxpayer wanted a reduction in taxes and to keep the latest Dominion statement, made by his fellow Quebecer, Justice Minister St. Laurent, and previously indicated that the Dominion had failed to sway him from the position he had taken. He said the nine-month-old conference.

COMMENTING ON the Justice Minister's statements, he said he believed that Mr. St. Laurent still a "clever, oratorical lawyer with an ability to plead both sides." He said that the Dominion position was not clear.

Quebec's position on fundamental issues had been clear from the beginning. First, it stood by the federal system. Second, it demanded that the constitution be amended only by unanimous agreement of at least seven provinces. Third, it respected provincial prerogatives, including education, social services and other matters recognized by the constitution.

Mr. DUPLESSIS said he had reached an agreement with Quebec willing to do its share of helping the Dominion over this difficult period of transition.

He suggested the Dominion could also help itself and two ways pointed to solution, as far as his province was concerned, were:

1. The federal government should face its expenditures.

2. Quebec was ready to rent to

Mysterious Death Of Woman Probed

CHICAGO, May 2.—(AP)—Miss Fay Rubenzik, real estate operator who left all but $7,000 of her reported $1,000,000 estate to a business partner, did not die of cancer as her death certificate indicated, Dr. William D. McNally, coroner's chemist, said yesterday.

Miss Rubenzik's body was exhumed Tuesday after Samuel Hoffman, a lawyer representing her family, asked it be disinterred.

DR. McNALLY SAID tests would determine the true manner of her death. The death certificate was signed by a Wynona, Neb., doctor who himself died six days later.

Miss Rubenzik left the major portion of her estate to Samuel L. Rifas, her business partner, of Kansas City, O. A suit by Miss Rubenzik's parents, Louis and Rachel Rubenzik, of South Haven, Mich., to set aside her will is pending in Kansas City.

economic principles of the Alberta government Dominion representatives to adopt a spirit of compromise.

He said the Dominion's fear that vacation of minor tax fields which only brought in $60,000,000 could not be reconciled with the Dominion's accomplishments in the field of wartime financing.

MR. MANNING said if the conference failed—the still hoped it would not—the responsibility would rest squarely on the doorstep of the Dominion government, due to the attitude of uncompromising rigidity as expressed by Finance Minister Isley.

Mr. Manning said that at February meetings of the co-ordinating committee there was a decision that if agreement could be reached on other matters there would be an amendment to the British North America Act to allow the provinces to collect an indirect retail sales tax.

When the committee resumed its meetings last week, the federal government had changed its position and the only thing that was left of the BNA Act it was ready to suggest was one for the delegation of powers.

This was despite the fact that the sales tax amendment would not have added one cent to the financial burden of the Dominion.

UN Will Study Spain Question

NEW YORK, May 2.—(AP)—The United Nations Security Council sub-committee investigating the Spanish question called today for all member-nation intelligence bearing on Spain and, in effect, invited both the Franco regime and the exiled Spanish Republicans to present their bitterly-opposed arguments as well.

THE INVESTIGATORS, after their first secret meeting yesterday, said they would welcome information from any source. This wide-open invitation would permit the Franco regime, if it desired, to offer evidence in an effort to offset the contributions already presented to the council by the Spanish republicans through Polish delegate, Oscar Lange in his demand for a collective United Nations diplomatic break with Madrid. The sub-committee is in recess until next Monday pending response to a circular letter asking the governments of the 51 United Nations to present "all relevant material in their possession on the situation in Spain."

MEANWHILE, the investigators had before them 461 letters and telegrams from private sources almost unanimously disapproving of the Franco regime.

Most of the communications urged recognition of the Spanish Republican leadership exiled in Paris as the rightful government of Spain. Some advocated a new Spanish regime on the basis of a free democratic election.

Speedy Thinking Saves Boys' Lives

BRANDON, Man., May 2.—(CP)—One of eight youths trapped by a swiftly-spreading prairie fire was in serious condition in hospital here last night as the group credited the coolness and quick-thinking of its oldest member with saving their lives.

BILLY ELLIOTT, 14, burned about the face, hands, body and legs when he climbed a tree to escape the flames, was the boy whose condition was described as serious. Doctors said the fact first aid treatment given him before his arrival at the hospital included blood plasma, probably had saved his life, at least temporarily.

The others, Stuart Bradford, 15, Trevor Cathineas, Collin Court, Wesley Whitehead, John Gibson, all 14, and Peter Kramarchuk, 22, were in hospital but less severely burned. The eighth, George Naimith, 17, escaped by digging a shelter ahead of the flames. All are from the Carberry district, 30 miles east of here.

Kramarchuk, who had gone with the younger boys on a tree-planting project, was the hero of the fire. WHEN THEY REALIZED the swiftly-moving flames had cut them off Kramarchuk took charge. They decided to dig in and let the fire pass over them. For a period that seemed like hours, Kramarchuk kept up the courage of the group. He told them stories and organized games. When the terrific heat made them thirsty he boiled slough water in a shovel and passed it around. Then, when the fire burned out, he carried Billy Elliott three miles in his arms.

Allies Gave More Than Expected

Says Hitler Got Concessions On Silver Platter at Munich

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

NUERNBERG, May 2.—(AP)—Hjalmar Schacht told the International Military Tribunal today that Britain and France at the Munich Conference in 1938 "handed Hitler on a silver platter more concessions than he ever expected to get" and thereby dealt a blow to anti-Nazi in Germany.

ON THE WITNESS stand in his own defense for the third day, Schacht said that at Munich "Hitler tried only to get autonomy for Germans in Czechoslovakia."

"But the Allies handed him the Sudeten territories, more than he ever expected to get, on a silver platter," he added.

"This success strengthened Hitler's popularity and weakened the chances of removing him."

The former economics minister contended that he had no prior knowledge of Hitler's plans to invade Czechoslovakia, Norway, Denmark, Poland or Russia.

SCHACHT, former reichsbank president and minister of economics, is on trial with 22 other ranking Germans on war crimes charges.

He asserted that after he was removed as president of the reichsbank in 1939, he devoted his efforts to preventing war. After his dismissal as minister without portfolio in January of 1943, "my only political activity was devoted to efforts to remove Hitler."

He told of plotting with generals who opposed Hitler and of frequent contacts with prominent Americans, Britons, Frenchmen and neutrals aimed at seeking peace.

MUCH OF this ground had been covered by a previous witness, Dr. Hans Gisevius, who had identified Schacht as a participant in various plots.

The defendant said "the only present I ever received from Hitler was a painting for my 60th birthday."

The painting turned out to be a forgery and was practically worthless, Schacht said. "I sent it back."

$100,000 Windfall For Helping Farmer

SAINT JOHN, N.B., May 2.

(CP)—A young Canadian war veteran, Bud Lloyd, has fallen heir to more than $100,000 bequeathed by a Maine farmer he helped to save from robbery several years ago.

The 30-year-old Lloyd was visited by a Bangor, Me., lawyer at his radio repair shop and was informed the lawyer had full authority to turn over the assets of the estate of Fred Street. Lloyd recalled he and his brother aided Street when the 70-year-old, Finnish-born farmer was attacked by a gang of men several years ago.

DOROTHY LAMOUR

'Dotty' Lamour Is Said Target Extortion Plot

BALTIMORE, May 2.—(AP)—An attempt to extort $15,000 from screen actress Dorothy Lamour was disclosed yesterday by an official source shortly after announcement of recovery of jewelry and valuables stolen from the actress in a $20,000 theft last Thursday.

The official said the actress received the extorted note in ten mail Monday morning at the home of her husband, Williams Ross Howard, III, in Pikesville, a Baltimore suburb. The note was postmarked in Baltimore Saturday.

THE OFFICIAL reported the note said: "Put $15,000 in the third pew right side of St. Ignace church (Park avenue and Saratoga street) at Sunday service."

Police announced an anonymous telephone tip led to recovery of the stolen jewelry. "Thank goodness!" was Miss Lamour's reaction.

Presbyterian Church to Launch Drive for Fund of $2,000,000

Aiming to stimulate established church institutions and extend and develop missionary work in this country and abroad, the Presbyterian Church in Canada has called on its members to "advance on all fronts" and raise a fund of $2,000,000 during 1945.

IN SUPPORT of the campaign the church has rallied ministers and congregations from coast to coast. Presbyterians in this city will take a prominent and active part with the construction of at least one new church here included among major objectives.

The campaign had its beginning at the general assembly of the church met and decided to "mark the close of the war by a peace thanksgiving or forward movement" and the board of administration was instructed to "arrange for the raising of the Thankoffering Fund in co-operation with similar committees appointed by the other denominations."

IT WAS DECIDED to name the movement "The Presbyterian Advance for Christ and Peace Offering."

One of the most prominent ministers taking part in the campaign will be Maj. John Weir Foote, VC, who was awarded the Victoria Cross in August, 1942. A Presbyterian minister, he is expected to devote considerable time and effort to raising the money.

After a complete survey of the church's needs and studying estimates submitted by various boards, it was decided to launch the appeal on the following basis:

For the reconstruction of European Protestant churches, damaged or destroyed by war $420,000.

FOR A CHURCH building fund to provide churches in strategic places $500,000.

For the extension of missionary work in Canada, opening new fields, necessary buildings and training members $201,650.

For new developments in missionary work overseas, in British Guiana, East Asia and India and providing equipment for post-war task and restoring buildings and equipment destroyed by war $210,550.

For living quarters to be rented to missionaries home on furlough $20,000. For young people's camps and other work in Sunday school and young people's societies $35,000.

TO PROVIDE the money to insure adequate income for the future, Knox College, Toronto is to provide churches in strategic places $500,000.

To strengthen the Presbyterian College, Montreal, $150,000.

For Penmanship, a home for retired ministers, with more adequate accommodation as a main objective $50,000.

For the Ephraim Scott fund, which gives aid to needy widows and orphans and needy retired ministers $50,000.

For the pension fund, to maintain the present pension for retired ministers and ministers' widows and to make possible some increase in the present inadequate pension $50,000.

IT IS POINTED out that through aid to home missions a contribution can be made to the church's activities to frontier settlements, new communities and needy groups.

Through donations to overseas missions a contributor may obey the command of Christ "to go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature."

Among the leading functions of the colleges and training schools sponsored by the church is the training of ministers and deacons for service in local congregations and in mission fields.

THE RESTORATION of Christian institutions in the devastated areas of Europe and the relief of suffering by the cruelly-treated people are another important phase of the work.

By further aid to Sunday schools and young people's work the church hopes to strengthen the home and youth activities which hold boys and girls together 30 per cent above last year.

houses for missionaries in British Guiana, provide travel equipment for village evangelism in India and increase the size of staffs in Chinese and Indian missions.

Expectation is that there will be restoration of endowments for theological colleges and increases in teaching staffs. Another aim is to make loans to help congregations in important centres who have been meeting in basement churches to complete their buildings, and aid groups in newly built up areas to construct adequate places of worship.

ARRANGEMENTS are expected to be made for a contribution to be distributed by the department of inter-church aid and reconstruction of the world council of churches in Geneva for basic physical relief, such as wooden churches and Christian centres for devastated areas, aid for theological students and rehabilitation of ministers.

Assistance will be given in the rehabilitation of Sunday schools in the devastated lands of Europe and Asia and to improve living conditions in the program for young people, with camps in every synod.

AND FOR THOSE who have given long and faithful years in the church's service there will be security and freedom from want. Remembering this comprehensive program and bearing in mind that in order to implement the plans drawn, the Presbyterian Advance for Christ and Peace Thankoffering calls you to join with fellow Presbyterians in an "Advance on All Fronts" to raise $2,000,000 in 1945.

Expected Longer Sentence

May Wants to Continue Studies in Jail Cell

LONDON, May 2.—(CP)—The Daily Mail said today Dr. Alan Nunn May, British physicist sentenced to 10 years' penal servitude Wednesday for giving secret information to a foreign power, told relatives after his arrest March 4 that he "expected a sentence of from seven to 15 years."

THE NEWSPAPER said the scientist told friends upon his return from Canada where he worked on nuclear research during Allied development of the atomic bomb: "I have discovered the most dreadful secret everyone—black, yellow and white—must share it. Once they know how frightful it is, no one will dare use it against the others."

The Mail said Dr. May would attempt to receive permission to have scientific books in his cell and "continue his work."

And in a story said: "British intelligence men are searching for a mystery man and woman who yesterday was a go-between in this country."

The newspaper added: "Strict secrecy is being kept about the nationality of the woman believed to be concerned."

THE DAILY SKETCH in a story dated Ottawa from a special correspondent said Dr. May was the key figure in selling the date for exposing the Canada espionage ring" and added: "His projected return to Britain was a factor in the hasty trip made by Prime Minister King to Washington and London to advise Mr. Truman and Mr. Attlee of espionage activities."

The story said Dr. May had been under police surveillance from early September when the Russian embassy code clerk, Igor Gouzenko (a key government witness in the present trials of persons accused of giving out secret information) left the Russian embassy in Ottawa with a "certain document."

"Canadian authorities knew that Nunn May would be returning to Britain early in October and notified the British authorities," the newspaper said.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

A MOST successful hockey season was officially brought to a conclusion at the dinner given in honor of the Edmonton Flyers by the directors of the Edmonton Exhibition Association at the Macdonald on Wednesday night.

Present indications are that an attempt will be made to give this city a serious contender for senior hockey honors next year—at least that appeared to be the trend of opinions expressed following the dinner.

L. A. (Lefty) Grove, chairman of the hockey committee of the city, stated that reappointment of Riley Mullen, manager-coach of the Flyers this season will be recommended to the new committee which will be named shortly.

"THIS IS MY HOME, My friends are here. Why should I go anywhere else?" That was the reply of W. F. W. Hancock, former president of RCMP to the query, "Are you planning on retiring to the coast?"

Yesterday was Bill's "first official holiday," as he put it, after 35 years of service.

"I was moving today, and what a job that is—first time though in 14 years."

In an address following the dinner, the former head of the RCMP here stated, "My wife says if I go to the coast, we won't see any hockey games. You know there's something about hockey which gets you, and unless I'm sick or dead I'll be out at the arena for every game next winter. You can rely on one hundred per cent support from me. And I hope we take the Allan cup."

MAJOR HARRY AINLEY: "We all felt pretty nervous last fall but we got started. However, Lefty Grove and the rest of the boys got busy, we appreciate the spirit of the team and I don't believe there was a prima donna in the whole bunch. I'm not like to make any predictions but I think it will have to be a good team which will beat the Flyers next year. . . . Flyers all gave their very best and so far as I'm concerned it was the second best team in Canada . . ."

Opens Today at Coast Status of Amateur Leagues

On Agenda CAHA Meeting

VANCOUVER, May 2.—(CP)—On the eve of a Canadian Amateur Hockey Association annual convention this is expected to effect broad changes in the fast growing international pickup setup, many unofficial indications of what will be discussed at the three-day meeting are presenting themselves.

Understood to be up near the top of the agenda is the future status of the Quebec senior league, which pays minor pro salaries while maintaining in name its standing as an amateur circuit.

The National Hockey League, it is believed, would like to see the Quebec league, along with the Pacific Coast and Western Canada senior leagues operating as straight professional outfits.

AS THINGS STAND now, the healthy amateur circuits have as much to offer the purchasers as most pro leagues and it's safer for the players with less competition than in the big time.

Ken McConnel of the Vancouver Province writes that an unimpeachable source has provided the information that the NHL is prepared to pay a lush sum to the CAHA for turning the Quebec league into an out-and-out professional outfit. It would also be delighted, he adds, to the point of the Quebec league, which is the Western Canada League and the Pacific Coast League are also turned pro.

The juvenile hockey setup may be revamped following discussion of the possibility of a new regime—dominion juvenile playoffs.

ALSO TO BE DEALT with is a plan whereby 75 per cent of playoff receipts above operating costs

The ROAD AHEAD

By HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

IT IS obvious that a great deal of careful study went into the plans for Canada's peacetime armed forces which have been announced recently. The pay schedule and the general regulations make it clear that the services want to attract the best type of men into the permanent forces—men who will be a credit to the country in time of peace and capable of giving vigorous and able leadership in times of war. But there seems to be one weakness in the whole set-up—and that is the failure to provide for any kind of compulsory service or training.

HOWEVER THIS weakness cannot be blamed on the service chiefs of staff. It is a result of government policy—and even in times of war Canada has been most reluctant to use compulsion of any kind. It is possible that the increased pay and allowances will attract enough of the kind of men the services require without the necessity of any form of compulsion. On the other hand, there is a grave danger, because of the political reluctance of the country to resort to any form of conscription, that should the right type of men not be forthcoming, the services will Chamber Urges Parley Continue Fearful that the present strained atmosphere existing at the Dominion-provincial conference in Ottawa may develop into a rift, the council of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce at their Wednesday meeting in the Corona hotel approved the communicating of an urgent recommendation that all parties strive to reach a settlement in session due to the many highly important problems that have yet to come before it.

The council indicated approval of the Dominion government's $110,000,000 irrigation plan for the reclaiming of western farm lands, announced recently by Agriculture Minister Gardiner.

A sub-committee was set up to give consideration to the selection and appointment of an executive secretary for the Edmonton chamber, to succeed Reg. T. Rose, who is leaving shortly to accept a secretarial appointment with the Vancouver Board of Trade.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Parents Displeased When Children Fail to Tell

Parents Feel Families Should Respect Them Enough to Tell Everything They Do, and Wonder If They Should Not Be Informed

DEAR MISS DIX: I have four boys almost grown. They go out almost every night without telling where they are going or when they are going home, and I do not think that is a thing to permit. We feel that our children should respect us enough to tell us about everything they do. Don't you think children owe something to their mother and father?

DISTRESSED PARENTS.

ANSWER: Of course, children owe a great deal to their parents, but if you want to collect the debt you must go about it in the right way, and that is something that fathers and mothers rarely consider. Instead of diplomatically suggesting to their children that they might pay a little something on the long account of love and tenderness and food and clothes and education that they have been running up with their parents ever since they were born, the parents hold them up with the gun of duty leveled at their heads, and this makes the boys and girls feel like evading the obligations altogether.

USE A LITTLE intelligence dealing with your boys and you will perceive the folly of asking nearly grown children where they are going every time they put on their hats to leave the house. If they are going to a perfectly proper place, and they probably are, and to meet the kind of people you wish to associate with, what difference does it make whether they have gone to the Smiths or the Browns or the church social? And if they are going somewhere they should not go and to meet the people you don't want them to meet, you will merely make them lie to you by questioning them.

Try to understand that their resentment at being put through a questionnaire about their movements is nothing but a genuine protest against being treated as children. It is no sign they are up to dark, wicked deeds.

Imitate the example of the woman I knew who said that when her boys were growing up she covered up half an inch of her tongue keeping herself from asking them where they were going and when they would get back.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Can you give me a cure for an inferiority complex and self-consciousness? I have both and I am very unhappy. A.B.C.

ANSWER: I doubt that an inferiority complex is as much of a drawback as is popularly supposed. The world is so full of self-satisfied people that it is most refreshing to find, now and then, someone who doesn't think that she knows it all, and who isn't sitting around to be admired. Modesty is a great charm and a rare one.

THE CURE for self-consciousness is to forget yourself. The self-conscious are morbidly egotistic. Their minds are concentrated on how they look, what people think of them, etc. Quit thinking about the impression you are making on other people and you will get over being self-conscious.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Why is it that men do NOT fall in love with girls who are sincere and dependable, but who are not demonstrative? They seem to be in love with girls who flatter them and make over them. Why is this?

WONDERING.

ANSWER: Well, sugar catches flies. We all have an insatiable appetite for sweet talk, and we are just naturally drawn to those who show that they like and admire us. If a girl desires to attract men, she must know how to rub their ears the right way. She must learn how to flatter artistically. She must keep herself in an obnoxious, oh-marvelous attitude toward all they say. Men don't like cold, self-conscious women. They like warm, impulsive women, women who show their feelings, especially when their feelings are about them.

Bridge

Every day more players are using the Fishbein convention against pre-emptive bidding. When West opened the bidding on the first hand at three hearts, ordinarily there would be little for North to do but to double.

South then would have to guess whether to leave the double in or to bid. In this case, however, Fishbein says that the correct bid is three no trump by North, which tells partner that he wants to play the 3 and there. Three no trump of course can easily be made. Even if East opens a club, declarer has the suit stopped, and he can then take the heart finesse and cash six diamond tricks.

Points for Parents

Mother: "When my oldest boy was a baby I found black milk was said to let him cry it out and not pick him up and I'm following that same rule with this new baby."

Mother: "I'm glad I have this new book on infant care. It says baby's crying is his only way of telling us something is wrong and it's all right to cuddle him some."

In the field of child development, as well as in other fields of study, there continue to be new methods to be learned and mistaken ones to be unlearned.

Why Grow Old?

It probably would be difficult to be an accomplished actress like Joan Winfield, above, and still lack the required amount of ego. But if you do lack ego, perhaps such a simple thing as learning to arrange flowers well might dispel your self-consciousness.

A GOOD HEALTHY ego is one of the best attributes we can have for happy living. By this I do not mean conceit but a natural belief in life and people and yourself. Therefore, the sufferer is suffering over nothing. I believe we should build up our egos with straight thinking, constructive action, tolerance and kindness toward human nature as a whole, and eager, interested living. It would go a long way toward adjusting us to happy living.

JOSEPHINE LOWMAN When the ego is sometimes sensitive, is practically always terribly conscious of what others are thinking of him, must fight for his rights, and often turns into a braggart or an extremely loud person in order to get the attention he craves. If one has an ailing ego it is just about impossible to be natural and natural folks are the only ones who are truly charming. A good ego banishes fear from your door and enables you to take the blows of life with some equanimity.

HOW DOES ONE GET a healthy ego if one is not born with it? Well, I guess we just have to earn it with philosophic thought, controlled emotions, a larger outlook, unselfishness and interest in others and in learning to do something well. The feeling which comes from accomplishment gives the ego great stability. The accomplishment need not be large or startling. Everyone can do several things well.

THE FEAR parents suffer when they have to deprive their children of foods which they consider to be good for them, in spite of the children's reluctance to eat them or their unhappy symptoms when they do, is a matter for explanation.

IF A FOOD IS OFFENDING to a child and he develops a rash, or a fever, or a cold, or a rash, or diarrhea or asthma or hay fever, then to force such a food on the child is to make a mistake of the first order.

Miss Ambrose Pledges Vows

Highlands United church was the scene of a wedding Wednesday at 8 p.m., when Miss Gladys Doreen Ambrose, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Ambrose of Vancouver, became the bride of James Donald Landella, son of James William Landella of Vancouver. The Rev. C. E. A. Pocock officiated. Miss Irene Bullock played "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

THE BRIDE, who entered the church on the arm of her father, was gownned in white tulle and net, fashioned with a long torso waistline and bustle effect at back. The neckline was styled on sweet heart lines and the sleeves were three-quarter length. Her veil, on train, was held to her head with a coronet of rosebuds and she carried a bouquet of red roses. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace.

Miss Frances Foster was bridesmaid. She wore a blue sheer gown with Juliet cap to match and carried a bouquet of multi-colored carnations.

Sgt. M. Landella, SAR, of Vancouver, was best man and ushering the guests to their pews were Donald Deved and Allan Bullock.

AFTER THE CEREMONY a reception to 50 guests was held at the Grove. Mother of the bride, receiving, wore a navy blue frock with white accessories and a corsage of red carnations. Miss Marjorie Landella of Vancouver, also receiving, chose a black frock with a shoulder corsage of pink carnations.

64 Nurses Are Graduated From Royal Alex Hospital School

"Recently a prominent medical educator of our province expressed the opinion that the Royal Alexandra Hospital School of Nursing was the finest in the province," said Dr. Walter C. MacKenzie in his address to the graduates of the Royal Alexandra Hospital School of Nursing at graduation exercises in First Presbyterian church Wednesday evening.

This class of 64 nurses is the largest class in the history of the school, and brings the total number of graduates to 979. One member of next year's class will therefore have the number 1000 engraved on her pin. Two members of this year's class are daughters of graduates of the school, namely Miss Bessie Finlay and Miss Ina Brennan. Miss Finlay's mother, a graduate of class 1917, is in a nursing field in Central Africa.

"FOR SEVERAL years before coming to Edmonton I had an opportunity to observe the work of a number of Royal Alexandra hospital graduates in a large post-graduate medical institution in the United States. I would like to assure the present graduating class that the young women to whom I refer, more than held their own with any post-graduate students in the school. You may really be proud to wear your Royal Alexandra pin and should realize that their qualifications compare favorably with those of a graduate nurse from any school. Dr. MacKenzie said.

"You are graduates in nursing and something more; you are specialists in a branch of work that requires very special knowledge. You are members of a corps that you will never want to see lowered by the introduction of members who are unworthy; thus it is your responsibility to do your part to maintain the high standards of that corps. Firstly, by governing your individual behaviour in such a manner that credit will be reflected upon your profession; secondly, by helping to interest the right type of young woman to study nursing.

"You are now full fledged members of the great nursing profession, a profession which has patriotically served our country in time of war and has served humanity well at all times. It seems fitting now to pay a short tribute to the members of your profession who made such a real contribution during the war.

"IN THE NAVY, for approximately two years we were without nursing sisters. Although experience is due our male graduate nurses and the many other ladies who were designated to the sick berth branch, we found out that hospitals, and particularly operating rooms, could not be run efficiently without the feminine touch. Consequently in October, 1941, the Naval Nursing Service was inaugurated. The modern trained nurse again demonstrated that she was, as Dr. Costa has so aptly phrased it, 'the Navy's right hand.' The Royal Alexandra School of Nursing made an important contribution to the Naval Nursing Service. The first operating room supervisor to take charge of an operating room was a Royal Alexandra hospital graduate. In addition one of the most important duties of the Naval Nursing Service was made by one of our graduates, the doctor said.

"In the army we know the nursing sisters, including many of our girls, served on every front. They served with distinction, not only in base hospitals and casualty clearing stations, but in some cases with forward surgical units and forward dressing stations.

"IN THE AIR FORCE the air ambulances would have been dull and inefficient transport, were it not for the courageous, smiling, efficient nursing sisters who worked so tirelessly to make the wounded as comfortable as possible.

"My respect for the trained nurse, and my confidence in her increases steadily. Although I have every reason to believe that the modern curriculum in our schools of nursing is improving year by year, I must enter a special plea here to the members of this graduating class—do not underestimate the importance of bedside nursing. Certainly you should know all about penicillin and how it acts, you should understand why a certain laboratory examination is carried out and the significance of the result, but I also feel very strongly that the comfort of the patient is one of your first and most important considerations. Know what is wanted and have it ready, quietly and gently. Watch your patient through the long hours with calm self-reliance and confidence; with the knowledge that vigilance detects a change for better or for worse, not forgetting the great responsibility placed upon you by the physician and the patient," Dr. MacKenzie concluded.

gave up the medical staff, Miss Mary Louise Carter, for proficiency in operating room technique and surgical nursing, a special prize.

THE REV. J. MacBeth Miller gave the invocation; Vernon Pearson, chairman of the Hospital Board, was chairman; Miss Anne M. Anderson led the Florence Nightingale pledge; Alderman Mrs. R. E. Browne presented pins and diplomas; Dr. A. F. Anderson, superintendent of the hospital, gave the superintendent's report; Miss Margaret Fraser gave the valedictory address; the School of Nursing choral club sang "April Showers"; Harry H. Newcomb is conductor of the club.

After the exercises a reception and dance for 200 persons was held at the Nurses' Residence.

The graduate nurses are: Margaret Elizabeth Asseltine, Betty Olive Bradshaw, Mary Louise Carter, Joan Olive Carter, Barbara Lydia Craig, Mary Ferguson Crawford, Nora Ina Fessay, Bessie Wilda Finlay, Kathleen Alma Free, Eileen Maud Fuiks, Geraldine Stanley Hooper.

Urges More Study In Orthopaedics

OTTAWA, May 1.—(CP)—Extensive studies in orthopaedics to enable nurses to recognize early symptoms of crippling were urged by Miss Jessie Stevenson of New York at the concluding meeting of the 48th annual conference of the American Association of Nurses in Orthopaedics.

Miss Stevenson, consultant in orthopaedic nursing to the National Organization for Public Health Nursing in the United States, described measures which could be taken to prevent crippling.

"When we think of orthopaedics we generally think of a baby with a club foot or a person who has to wear a brace to walk, but there is an orthopaedics content in all nursing and we must also think of preventive measures," she said.

Everyone, she said, should sleep on a firm, flat mattress, use only one pillow. Well-lighted, well-ventilated shoes should be worn to promote the best development of bones and muscles.

Freight Petroleum Products to North

Waterways of the far north will be the scene of the greater distribution of fuel oils and gasoline in the history of civilian activities in the far north this coming summer, The Edmonton Bulletin learned Wednesday.

APPROXIMATELY 7,000 tons of petroleum products will be freighted from the Imperial Oil Company Ltd. wells at Norman Wells up and down the Mackenzie river tributaries to service pumping stations at Akavik, Fort Simpson and Yellowknife.

Much of the petroleum products will be moved in the new fleet of barges, constructed for the Yellowknife Transportation Co. at Fort Nelson.

Three barges, equipped with large oil tanks and a self-powered tug are ready for launching at Fort Nelson where they have been under construction at the unique inland shipyard during the winter months.

EARL HARCOURT, manager of Yellowknife Transportation company, said Wednesday that the fleet will be launched at Nelson on May 8.

By going by way of the Liard River from Nelson, the Mackenzie-Kenzie an entire month will be saved. The difficult portage at Fort Simpson will be avoided. The time-saver it is expected to be.

"It was the sailors of yesterday who made the seas safe for the sailors of today," So spoke Allan Young, veteran seaman and skipper of Edmonton's Cutty Sark Club, when he addressed more than 125 Cutty Sark members and their friends at a club banquet in the Masonic Temple Monday evening.

Mr. Young went on to tell about the difference between present day seafaring and seafaring as he knew it before the time of radar or wireless communications.

Charge Packing Houses Unfair

There are unfair practices on the part of some of the larger meat packers in their distribution of available supplies to smaller butcher shops, according to complaints voiced Tuesday by George Olesky, operator of a butcher shop in the Edmonton Market.

HE SAID that larger butcher shops were getting preferential treatment in the distribution of carcasses and processed meats such as bacon, and that his orders had been passed down to a point where he hardly paid him to keep the shop open.

Demand Short Work Week 300 Persons in Attendance At May Day Rally in City

Demands for shorter hours in the work week, establishment of fact-finding boards, hints of possible revolution, disposssession of the common people, and predictions of impending depression, were a few of the subjects that spiced addresses by five speakers at Edmonton's first May Day rally attended by about 300 persons at the public meeting held Wednesday evening in the Masonic Temple.

THE SPEAKERS included: Jan Lakeman, president of the Edmonton Labor Council, Canadian Congress of Labor, Jack Johnson, organizer for the UPWA (CIO); W. J. Williams, M.L.A., secretary-manager of the Canadian Legion, Edmonton branch; Mrs. E. S. Wilson, vice-president, local 233, UPWA; and J. L. McMillan, C.I.O., organizer for the Alberta Farmers' Union.

T. C. Roberts, secretary of the Edmonton Labor Council, was chairman.

Mr. Lakeman charged that "big business" was exerting an influence on government, and that "people in high places have been successful in bringing pressure to bear 'for the purpose of their own advantage'."

He accused the government's record on the present unemployment situation, stating there were 3,000 unemployed in Edmonton for job, and across the Dominion the unemployed now total 300,000.

"The Canadian government has capitulated to big business of this country," stated Lakeman, referring to the recent submission of the Canadian Congress of Labor to the government last month.

HE CALLED ATTENTION to Canada's production during wartime, which had been achieved by the efforts of elderly men, women and some very young children.

With his record of production they had scored he criticized the government for lack of planning for the post-war period, and especially in housing "for the people who want to come to save Canada from the Nazis."

"Homeas that are being built in Edmonton and in other cities are not of the type a veteran can afford to buy or rent. They're being built for speculation and to serve the interests of the real estate operators," Lakeman declared.

For promptly advocated union membership for all workers, a 40-hour week and a minimum hourly wage rate of at least 60 cents.

Mr. Hampson in speaking of his union said "We have asked too long and now we are planning on demanding a shorter work week."

HE JUSTIFIED union claims for a 30 per cent increase in wages for what he said was the record of one packing house chain in Canada which during the war paid over $100,000 in profits.

The union had no quarrel with farmers for a drop in production which he blamed for the lay-offing in Edmonton of over 500 packing house workers. He said it was not to blame that farmers would not deliver livestock as there was a non-buying strike by the packers.

Hampson leveled the charge that the hog production decline was a liberally misinterpreted by the federal government "for the purpose of maintaining scarcity and holding up prices."

He referred to the history of conflicts arising out of economic depression and stated that if the present situation were to continue and to worsen it would be more than likely result in revolution.

"WE HAVE NO QUARREL with private enterprise, but they will do so only by the will of the people," the C.I.O. organizer declared.

Mr. McMillan stated there was nothing left for the farmer to do but increase production and the government had been taken off ceilings on many necessary farm commodities as well as with the discontinuance of subsidies.

To this end the Alberta Farmers' Union was going ahead with organization of its members for a non-delivery strike. He said before a strike action would be implemented an AFU delegation would present the farmers' case to the federal government.

"Then if we can't get anywhere with them, it will be the government that will call for a non-delivery strike," said Mr. McMillan.

"WE BELIEVE that farmers are entitled to a third of the national income," he said, adding that the present income tax setup as it affects farmers was too severe and inflicted many hardships in its regulations.

Slashing at the government for what he stated was their refusal to open up the Workmen's Compensation Act, Mr. Williams asked how an incapacitated man, drawing only $100 a month, could support a wife and family on $60, or two-thirds of his salary as it now applies in the act.

He had words of criticism for the farmer who members of the provincial government employed in summoning the president of the Alberta Farmers' Union, Carl J. Stimpfle, to the floor of the legislature for "a grilling interrogation" in respect to statements he was said to have made favoring a 40-hour week for farm labor.

He said there was no reason for the lifting of ceiling prices today, and added that he wondered if it was part of a scheme to get the people's bonds back into the hands of the bankers and the insurance companies.

CONSUMERS, he said, were enraged through a thorough inquiry being made through fact-finding boards since some essential commodities had risen in price as much as from 25 to 50 per cent.

Mr. Williams in commenting on the increase in farm machinery prices said that as one example of manufacturers' profits, the Massey-Harris Company had launched their business on a capital of $300,000, and in 1939 had paid dividends to their shareholders amounting to $29,950.00.

He said there were 3,000 unemployed veterans in Edmonton, and that unemployment would never be solved by old people working.

The 30-hour week has got to come," he declared in closing.

Only woman speaker of the evening, Mrs. E. S. Wilson, vice-president of a UPWA local, warned that labor should be on guard against "subtle" infiltrations in their ranks "which could break an organization without the people knowing what it was all about."

She took a severe view of racial, religious and class distinction, claiming that it was practiced against negroes in Alberta hospitals in that none could be employed on their staffs.

THIS WAS TRUE, too, of her present employers, whose stated policy, she said, was no employment for negroes. This, however, went by the boards during wartime labor shortages, she added.

Protesting against a display of tumbling and human pyramiding, was performed by the Association of Upland and Downland, in the direction of Tony Kay and Bill Smith, and the orchestra of the same association, led by Mary M. Shaska, rendered several Red Army folk songs, typically sombre but well presented by string and plectrum sections.

A collection from the 300 persons yielded $31.10.

Regulations Are Announced Pleasure Travel Is Banned On Alaska Highway This Year

There will be no pleasure travel by tourists, hunters or fishermen over the Alaska Highway this summer, Thomas Hogg, Alaska Highway Control Board official in the office of L. H. Phinney, special commissioner for Northwest Defense Projects, announced Thursday.

IN MAKING PUBLIC for the first time regulations covering all personnel to whom permits may be issued for travelling over the highway at this time, Mr. Hogg pointed out that the federal government is busy now with plans for assuring adequate lodging and vehicle supply and maintenance facilities along the highway, before throwing it open to the general public.

The official confirmed previous official announcements to the effect that there was little chance of facilities for the use of the general travelling public being ready before next spring, but said that such would be completed according to a well-conceived, long-term plan.

A NEW BOARD of control for traffic, made up of representatives of the Northwest Defence Projects Office, Northwest Highway System of the Canadian Army, RCMP and the department of mines and resources has been formed, replacing the joint traffic control board of Canadian and American representatives.

The following compose the new board: Thomas Hogg, special commissioner's office of Northwest Defence Projects; Lt. Col. Roger Rowlands, DSCO, Northwest Highway System; Canadian Army: Insp. Cronkite, RCMP; Whitehorse; L. E. Drummond, Edmonton; A. R. McDougall, Whitehorse, department of mines and resources.

Mrs. S. A. Foubes, former U.S. Army representative on the joint board, is not on the new board and for the 400 of the 1,000 miles of the highway that passes through Alaska, the officer commanding said.

Mr. Hogg in Fairbanks will be the authority in charge of permits for that section of the highway. He will work in conjunction with the Canadian Control Board.

PERMITS FOR THOSE allowed to use the highway must be obtained at the nearest traffic control board office, the main one being located at 9037 103 street in the former Oliver residence, now occupied by Commissioner Phinney.

There will also be representatives of the board in Dawson City, Fort St. John and Whitehorse.

Following are the regulations governing use of the highway at the present time:

The following persons require permits to travel on the Alaska Highway:

Duly accredited representatives of the Canadian or United States governments on government business.

Members of the church, press, radio or film boards who must first obtain credentials from their respective governments.

Prospectors, who must show that they are organized and able to supply themselves with transportation, gasoline, oil and necessary vehicle repairs and spare parts; also food and shelter, and requiring assistance from the Northwest Highway System (Canadian Army).

Other civilians not included in above.

THE FOLLOWING persons do not require permits:

Canadian or U.S. armed forces personnel travelling on orders.

Highway maintenance personnel in possession of "trip tickets" as supplied by the Northwest Highway System (Canadian Army).

Applicants in or passing through Edmonton will secure a letter of approval from the above office and this letter will be handed to the representative at one of the points mentioned above in exchange for a permit.

Applicants in the vicinity of Dawson Creek, B.C., Fort St. John, B.C., and Whitehorse, Y.T., will apply direct to the board's representative at those points.

Bona fide residents along the highway should apply either in person or by mail to the nearest traffic control board representative and the necessary permits will be issued.

PERSONS WISHING to travel the highway for pleasure trips such as hunting, fishing, vacationing etc., will not be issued permits.

Before a permit is granted, the applicant's vehicle will be examined for "roadworthiness" and the examination officer's decision will be final. Consequently, the vehicle must be in good mechanical repair.

When an application is approved, a permit card and vehicle registration card will be issued.

Each person must carry a permit while on the highway. Any other note, form, bill or letter will not be recognized as authority to travel the highway and no permits will be issued at the gates or checking stations. Members of the board are authorized to issue permits.

Any civilian travelling on his vehicle a person who does not possess a permit, shall have his own permit subject to immediate cancellation by police patrol or by the board's representatives.

WHEN TRAVEL is authorized, it is entirely at traveller's own risk and no help can be expected from highway authorities in case of accident or illness or breakdown of an automobile equipment. Travellers will carry a good first-aid kit and a spare tire.

Emergency may help be expected from any government installation. Benign points other than government installations between Dawson Creek and the Canada-Alaska border.

A MANIFEST showing the personal belongings of passengers and contents of the vehicle will be prepared in duplicate before passing the gate or checking station. One copy (in the traveller's possession) will be subject to checking by the highway police patrol or highway maintenance system officials at any time en route. The second copy will be retained at the gate or checking station.

Applications to travel on the canal and Haines roads may be made to the above address.

All travellers must strictly conform with existing fire prevention regulations. During the period April 1 to Oct. 1 a pick and shovel shall be carried in each vehicle for fire fighting purposes and a fire-proof receptacle for cigarette butts.

A permit may be cancelled for any infraction of the foregoing regulations, or for violation of any rule relative to Alaska Highway maintenance, or violation of any federal or provincial ordinance.

"EXPERIENCE IS A SURE TEACHER"

A shepherd, who had always been perfectly satisfied with his chosen career, one day took his flock too close to the sea and was seized with an uncontrollable desire to become a sailor. He sold his sheep, bought a ship and set sail. Of course, he knew nothing about seamanship and, on the first voyage, the ship was lost and the amateur sailor barely escaped with his life. Needless to say, he moved back to his meadow and stayed there.

At EATON'S we've got 'way beyond the stage of "trial voyages." We've been in business for 76 years, and all that 76 years of merchandising experience goes into the choice and purchase of EATON'S Own Brands. No wonder they have come to be recognized as trustworthy symbols of quality and value.
